

The Sketchbook Project Library

As research pro our new bridging project we visited the sketchbook project library in Brooklyn. This sketchbook library was created in 2006 in Atlanta, Georgia and more than 70,000 artists have participated in the also traveling library. In my opinion this is a great way to express creativity and give anyone the opportunity to feel like a true artist.

After our trip to the library I continued to look at sketchbooks online because I had more time to many more than what I had in the hour we were there. Of all the incredible sketchbooks I think these were my favorites because of the colors and throughout all their pages they show continuance and balance.
