

Dear Chicago Policement Department,

My name is Margo... I am a single mother whose beloved child, Hazel, has been kidnapped. Word has already broken out to the press, local news platforms, and detailed police reports have already been filed.

However I am writing this letter to you personally because I cannot bear this aching feeling that sits beneath my heart for much longer. I need her back. I will not last one more second wiithout my perfect little angel. Knowing that she is out there in this world, unsafe, alone and in danger. She is my world, she is my purpose, she is my life. Please, you must find her. She must be so scared . I have already lost my husband, Joseph Effie. I cannot lose my daughter as well. Please tell the people of chicago to look for her with piercing eyes. Look for her long, delicate, brown curls that hang right below her chest. Tell them to look for her big brown eyes that are probably filled with fear and sadness. Look for her long legs that much resemeble her fathers. She is a bright young girl, who is bound to do amazing things. Find my baby. You must work fast, she could be in grave danger. I will not lose hope, nor should you. We

Best Regards,

MARGO EFFIE
