BARS AND NIGHT LIFE

FRANK STEVENSON'S "SLIDE."

The dive kept by Frank Stevenson at 157 Bleecker street, known as "The Slide," is morally the lowest in New York. London, Paris or Berlin, with all their iniquity, have nothing to parallel this sink of vice and depravity.

Other dives have become notorious on account of their proprietors or the many crimes that have been committed in them, but "The Slide" is notorious chiefly on account of its immoral character.

Much has been written about the degradation, corruption and wickedness in the slums of the city, but there the poor wretches shrink from notoriety, while the abandoned creatures in Stevenson's "Slide" make nightly a public exhibition of their evil doings. These beings, without moral sense or shame, are billed as the chief attraction in that pit of shame.

Nightlife has drastically changed since the 1800s. Since the 1800s, nightlife has drastically changed. nightlife has drastically changed since the 1800s. Since the 1800s, nightlife has drastically changed and it's crazy!
