

Bridge Project #2: Peer to Peer

Project description:

I have chosen a stereotype of the people living in Hampton's. It is a creature with a fake identity that is, they have changed themselves completely to fit in society. For example, breast transplants and face and body surgeries to look better. These people are healthy and therefore have the freedom and the ability to change themselves completely into who they are not.

I have chose five objects that the alien will bring to New York from their home planet as not only a memory but a need. These are the objects in my collection:

- A dollar note- This is to symbolise the immense amount of money they spend on being fake. This creature will carry this bill as a need more than a memory.
- A lipstick- As the creature moves forward with doing facial surgeries to look pleasing, she also further enhances her face with the use of makeup and therefore this is a cosmetic item that the creature will want to and wish to get it from its home planet.
- Breast enhancement cups- This is an machine that is supposed to be attached to the breast for a couple of hours that will increase the size of it majorly. This is a machine that the stereotype would love to carry to continue being fake.
- Facial pull- This is a machine that tightens the face cells and muscles by rubbing it onto your face.
- Pill thrower- As people in Hampton's are known to take a lot of pills to continue to make them look young an beautiful, this is a machine that spits out pills buy just a press of a button. The creature might require this in New York as getting surgeries is not that cheap here regardless of the money they own.
