Question One: Who do I need to forgive?

Myself.

My past, present, and future self. I think I need to be more open to making mistakes and using them as an opportunity to grow both now and days to come.

Question Two: What are 3 of my weaknesses?

- 1.) Low patience
- 2.) Easily distracted
- 3.) Procrastinator

A lot of people mentioned I have low patience so I defiantly think this is something I can work on. It's not something I realized was that big of an issue until it became a reoccurring response.

Question Three: Describe my work ethic?

Give me an opportunity and I'll figure out the rest.

I think I can work harder.

Question Four: What is my "why"?

To work towards a purpose and plan that is bigger than me. I want to be used as an example for what it's like to be led by God and have influence in today's world.

This response still holds true for me. I didn't think it was something that was evident to others but, after conducting various interviews, I realize it's something that clearly spills over in all that I do which makes me feel like I'm fulfilling one of the reasons I was put on earth.

Question Five: How do I define success?

When I'm more than equipped to help those become just as or more successful than I am.

When I'm more than equipped to help others become just as or more successful than I am.

Success is fulfilling projects for the befit of humanity.

Question Six: Am I more spiritual or religious?

Spiritual.

I say I'm both... but, based off of each word's definition maybe more religious.

Question Seven: What are 3 qualities I look for in a partner/relationship?

- 1.) Must be better than me at something (able to teach me something new)
- 2.) Selfless
- 3.) Religious/Spiritual

Same response.

Question Eight: When do I want to die?

When I'm 196!

Same response.

Question Nine: What is my favorite clothing item?

Shoes. Footwear. Shoes. Shoes... Shooooooooooooes.

Same response.

Question Ten: What do I think my most admirable trait is?

I think my most admirable trait is my ability to talk to anyone about anything at any time.

Same response with something new: I have a passion for people.
