Final Project

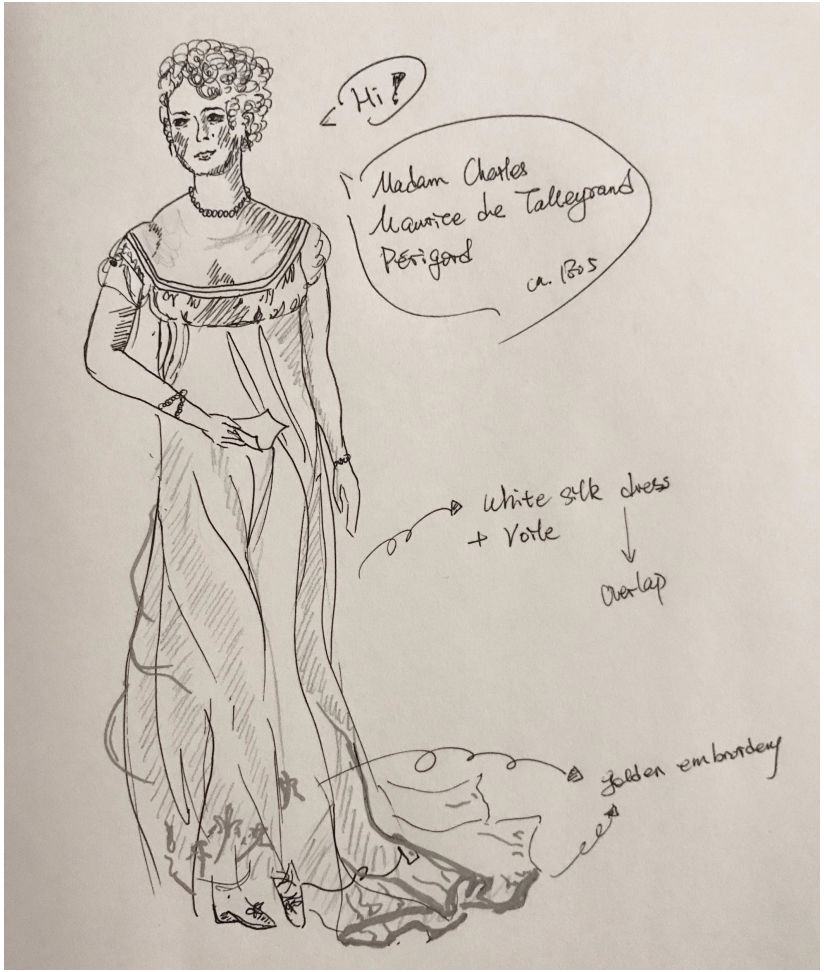
Emily Feng

Smile

.....

Madame Charles Maurice de Talleyrand Périgord (1761–1835)

baron François Gérard (French, Rome 1770–1837 Paris)
ca. 1804
Oil on canvas
88 7/8 x 64 7/8 in. (225.7 x 164.8 cm)



She married with her first husband, George Francis Grand, in one of a series of liaisons that culminated in her becoming the wife of the statesman, Talleyrand.

However by the time this portrait was painted, about 1805, her husband had tired of her frivolity, and separated with her

- The princess's costume, sheer, gold-embroidered silk voile over white satin
- worn with slippers without heels
- a cashmere paisley shawl, made fashionable after the 1798 French campaign in Egypt, a highly desired and expensive status symbol throughout the first quarter of the nineteenth century

Shirt of Mail and Plate of Al-Ashraf Sayf ad-Din Qaitbay (ca. 1416/18–1496), 18th Burji Mamluk Sultan of Egypt

ca. 1468–96

Culture:

probably Egyptian

Medium:

Steel, iron, copper alloy, gold

H. 31 in. (78.7 cm); W. 54 1/2 in. (138.4 cm); Wt. 25 lb. 2.4 oz. (11.41 kg)

Armor for Field and Tournament

ca. 1575–80

Culture:

Italian, probably Milan

Medium:

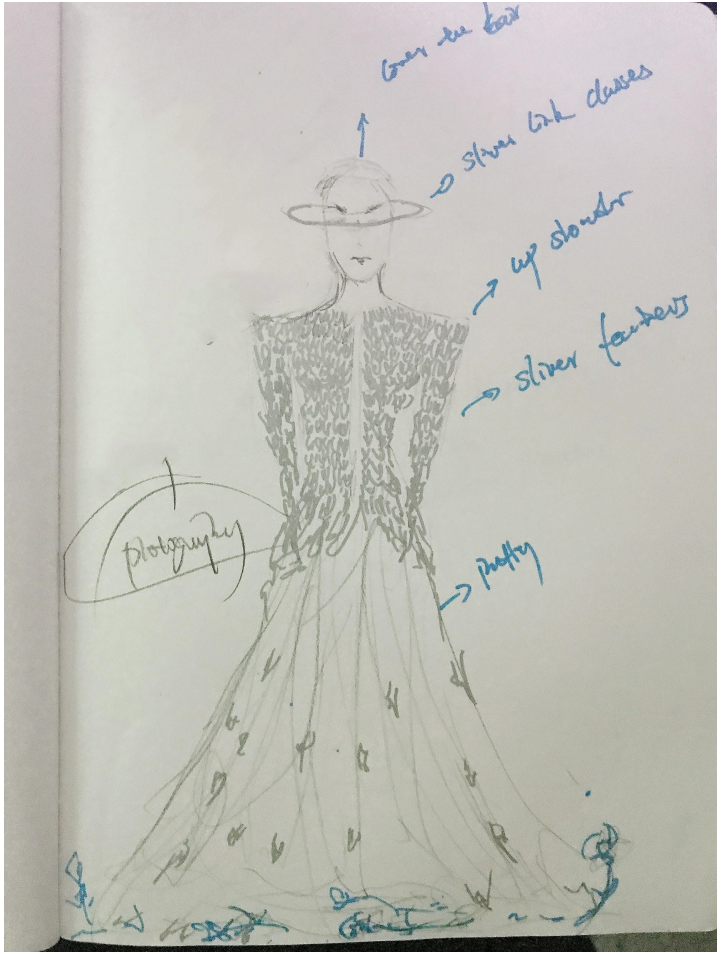
Steel, gold, silver

Dimensions:

H. 71 1/2 in. (181.61 cm); Wt. 52 lb. 4 oz. (23.7 kg)

Connection

I want to create a dress that includes the elements that I had seen from the painting and armor. How a modern women wear the armor. I am going to make a top/suit looks hard and shining, and a fluffy dress under it as the dress that the women was wearing in the painting. I love the classic french style of the dress and it can combine with the armor; in order, to show a strong woman character.



Cover the face
Silver Gothic classes up shoulder
Silver feathers photography Pretty

project for space class:
transation color
dark to bright recycle metheral
silver paper
traditional material
Due Nov. 21 - Monday.
Inspirations.
silver paper
flowers shapes coat shoe

Foil paper

Backing paper

How women can be independent nowadays.

Downtown
Heliport
TRUCK ROUTE
NYPD

Downtown
Heliport
TRUCK ROUTE

Downtown
Heliport