

Sam Klegerman - Seminar - Seven Day

DAY 1

My Humble Thoughts

I find it extremely hard to associate with those in this bubble. Ive been living in this bubble for so long that its nice people could finally show up. I am alone in the bubble with so many people that aspire to be me at the end of the day.

DAY 2

Joan starts everyday reading the same book while eating the same cereal. She vacuums the same stained rugs while letting the news run in the background. She then washes the same clothes everyday to ensure she will always be on top of the laundry. She waters the same plants everyday with a vintage yet very colorful watering hose. She drives to the same market to pick up her daily cup of coffee that she fills with too much soy vanilla chai creamer. Joan starts everyday with the same tasks that lead her to believe she's living a very complicated life.

DAY 3

DAY 4

Work hard to obtain and fulfill

DAY 5

The other day Jenny fell down and scraped her knee.
She started to bleed everywhere and began to cry for help.
Jenny was shook that she left the house alone and nobody was there to help her.
She crawled around and started to slowly stand up to proceed to her long walk.
Blood all over, Jenny found herself unable to complete her walk and headed home.

DAY 6

Can somebody please tell me the day
I could never give you all just one truly alone but looking for something to say

Completely confused about which way
the day goes on with hours of wasteful fun
Can somebody please tell me the day

Searching on for the answer to stay nobody knows how far ill run
truly alone but looking for something to say

Gazing around as if they want me to obey
I choose to be outside where its nothing but pure sun
Can somebody please tell me the day

Focus on me and there will be no haze alone in this bubble - who knows whats just begun
truly alone but looking for something to say

Its all within At the end of the day
at least i can say I'm not outdone
Can somebody please tell me the day
truly alone but looking for something to say

DAY 7

Listen - If you locked me in a Good Will but gave me a full handle of @SKYYVodka
I could conquer the world in 8 minutes.