

Flats gives me a different perspective when I look at clothes. Its a form of illustration that I feel like conveys the technical traits of the garments best where people could see where all the seams, where all the curves and stitches are within the garment. Unlike artistic illustrations of garments, flats make me appreciate clothing on a more productive aspect that an artistic view on them.

